

Tottenham Hale Kidney Care Centre

Client

Royal Free Hospital

Description

Our longstanding clients the Royal Free Hospital commissioned Tangram to design this recently opened satellite renal unit in a new development in Tottenham Hale, north London. The unit, which sits within a larger development of flats and retail units, occupies the ground and first floor of a developer shell.

Innovations & Added Value

Tangram's challenge was in fitting these spaces out with constraints at existing structure and services, within restricted floor to ceiling heights, especially on the upper level.
